

TBK Camp Injury Policy

At Top Bar Keepers camps, we will make each camper's health and safety our top priority at all times. In this regard, we strive to have a certified athletic trainer at all camps with 20 or more participants. Any player who requests medical attention for an injury OR who is determined by our staff to have an injury that requires attention will be evaluated immediately. If our TBK staff conclude that an injury can be managed on-site with the potential for a return to playing (such as with a minor ankle sprain), the athlete will be treated appropriately (such as with ice and elevation) and monitored for a return to action.

If, however, our TBK staff determine that an injury requires evaluation by a physician, parents will be notified as soon as possible—and for those campers who may not reside near the location of a camp, a list of local urgent care and x-ray facilities will be provided for your assistance. In such situations, return to action will be predicated upon documentation from a medical professional who indicates that the camper can safely resume camp activities.

Finally, in the event of any serious injuries or life-threatening situations that are deemed to require immediate medical attention, TBK staff will call 911 right away and notify parents right away. In all cases, we will prioritize the well-being of our campers above anything else!
